PESKY BED BUGS

A MILLION BEDBUGS. Just think, a 25c package of the new golden chemical F.D.O. (Pest Destroyer) is enough to make a guest and enough to kill a million bedbugs, no matter how large they may be, where they come from, their age, color or sex, and at the same time it is a powerful disinfectant and kills all insects on contact with their eggs and prevents hatching.

CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be used at any drug store. A 25c package makes a quart of F.D.O., and will do further than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence by offering you something else. Insist on what you ask for, then you'll have what you need.

The men who wear Friedman's $20 and $25 clothes will tell you that before they began to wear Friedman clothes they paid considerably more for a quality that was no better.

TWO MEMBERS OF COURT REGISTER FOR WAR WORK

Judge Bachman Will Not Resign but Will Ask Leave of Absence.

Knoxville, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Two members of the state supreme court have registered under the selective service law. They are Judges Bachman and McKinney.

Judge Bachman was asked concerning the recent report that he might resign from the bench to enter the army. He replied that he had no intention of resigning the judgeship, although he is ready and willing to fight in the front line trenches if necessary. "Should I be called," said Judge Bachman, "I will request the court and governor to grant me a leave of absence for the duration of my service in the army. In that event the governor would designate a special judge to sit on my seat, and upon my return I would resume my official duties. Previous to the decision of August 1 I discussed this matter with friends in a conference at Nashville. I was disposed to retire from the race for the supreme judgeship, but the probability of being called into the army. My friends and advisers, however, insisted that I should not quit the race, but should run on, and, if selected, should seek a leave of absence, as I have indicated is now my purpose. It was in appreciation of my obligation to my friends, who so loyally supported me and urged me to enter this race, that I did not retire therefrom. I believe the people of the state will not oppose the leave of absence suggested, should I be called to wherever the call comes."

Judge McKinney was asked if he would ask for a leave of absence should he be called into the service. He replied that he had registered, and was proud to be the possessor of a registration card. "However," said he, "I never cross bridges until I reach them. I am at the service of my country in any capacity, military or otherwise." The present supreme court is the youngest in the history of the tribunal's existence. All of the judges are less than 50 years of age. Judge Landen, the presiding officer, is 49 years old; Judge Hall is 47; Judge Green is 46, and Judges McKinney and Bachman are 45 and 49 years old, respectively.

While the draft law entitles judges of courts to exemption, it may be that they will not make claims for immunity from service.

OPPOSITION TO REMOVAL OF SCHOOL FOR DEAF AND DUMB

City Officials See No Reason for Moving School to Nashville.

Knoxville, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Much opposition has developed in Knoxville to the proposed removal of the Tennessee School for the Deaf and Dumb to Nashville. No stone will be left unturned by public officials and individuals in their efforts to retain that institution for Knoxville.

Dan M. Chambliss, president of the board of commerce, states that the organization will likely make a strong fight against the removal of the institution. The manner in which the fight will be taken up, however, has not been discussed. Presently, he adds, members of the city commission are unanimous in their opinion that there is absolutely no reason for moving the school to Nashville or to any other place. The claim that the students could be given instruction in agriculture in Nashville, which has been made by members of the state board of control, is adequately answered by local citizens who call attention to the unimproved facilities for teaching agriculture, as well as other vocational lines, at the University of Tennessee. Commissioner N. T. Little, while stating that he can see no reason whatever for removing the deaf and dumb school from Knoxville, says that should it be taken to another city, Knoxville should secure the present school site for park purposes, as it would make an ideal park accessible to all citizens of Knoxville. Other members of the city commission, however, state that it is their opinion that the school will not be moved, both because of the fact that Knoxville is the logical place for the institution, and also because of the fact that the cost of removing the school to other quarters would be practically prohibitive at present.

NO CLUE TO PARTIES USING YELLOW PAINT

Six Stores Have Painted Objectionable Color, but Police Cannot Find Motive.

Knoxville, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Officers making investigations in regard to six stores having been painted yellow late Saturday night have found no clue which would lead to the identity of person, or persons, guilty of the act. Complaints had been made against the management of one of the stores in regard to derogating the government request for early closing, but officers are at a loss to know the motive in painting the other stores. The stores were in accordance with the request of federal officials.

DANDRUFF GOES! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments. Try this!

Hair stops coming out and every particle of dandruff disappears.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes, really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy just molten to the roots. Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful—(Adv.)

SAYS THAT BOXING IS A BIG AID TO SOLDIERS

Raycroft Denies Report That Sport Doesn't Help Bayonet Fighters.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Published articles to the effect that boxing does not give a useful training as a basis for bayonet fighting and that the two have no common relationship have been emphatically denied in a formal statement issued by Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft, head of the athletic division of the war department commission on training camp activities, which directs the athletic activities in the military training camps throughout the country. The statement follows:

"Several more or less uniformed critics have published articles to the effect that boxing does not give useful training as a basis for bayonet fighting. Such criticisms are based upon ignorance of both bayonet fighting and military boxing. The experience of the past year in the training camps shows that boxing has great value as a preparation for bayonet fighting and in the development of those physical and spiritual qualities that are characteristic of the aggressive fighting man."

"The great majority of our young men who make up the army have had little or no experience of physical contact games that develop self-reliance, courage, quick thinking and quick decisions under fire. Bayonet training at its best is a drill in which speed, endurance and skill in handling the weapon are developed, but in the nature of things, there can be no practice contests with the bayonets. Boxing supplies this important contest factor and furnishes a means of training men to keep their heads and to carry out an effective plan of attack, even though they are being punished by their opponents. In this way qualities needed in the bayonet fighter are developed by practice in boxing to an extent and with a rapidity that is impossible in any other plan of training thus far tried."

"The commanding officers of the training camps in this country have almost universally testified to the value of boxing as a part of military training. In many of the principal camps it has been made a regular and definite part of the daily routine. The following statements from generals commanding training camps are typical:

"Boxing undoubtedly is one of the most useful forms of physical training which a soldier can have. Especially is this true in the case of the bayonet man, whose physical prowess is an absolute essential, and whose greater spirit and punch than his opponent make him sure winner in the bayonet fight."

"Men who have taken courses in boxing, after one or more lessons begin to show an aggressiveness which they did not previously have, and which is absolutely necessary, not only in bayonet exercises, but in all personal encounters."

Watch Your Body Machine

You're careful not to let your power plant run down. But how about your physical constitution? Do you give it the same thoughtful attention?

The human body is but an intricate piece of delicate machinery and demands to be kept in perfect condition for high efficiency. Nature soon renews neglect and imposition and does not hesitate to warn, by unmistakable symptoms, of her purpose to revolt.

You cease to have a relish for your meals and even what little you do eat weighs like lead on your stomach. Your nerves are discordant, "all to pieces"; the least thing out of the ordinary over-excites you and causes your heart to flutter. Again, at times, you have that awful "gone" feeling, becoming thoroughly exhausted upon the slightest effort. Your inclination and desire to do and to accomplish things has left you because you lack not only the spirit to go ahead, but the strength of mind and body as well to execute your ideas and plans. Still, in all, not really sick enough to go to bed, but just "fagged out," "all in," "dog tired" as it were. Notwithstanding, these are the formidable harbingers of the impending crisis—a complete break-down, and Nature's insistent demand for better treatment. Neglect spells disaster! It's easy to repair—provided, the repairing is done in time. Don't wait! Commence today to take
